

GLOCAL HIGH GRADE EURO BONDS FUND

FACTSHEET APRIL 2025

Macroeconomic Update

April brought mixed results for bond investors amid uncertainty over U.S.-China trade tensions. 54% of USD bonds posted positive price returns, with Investment Grade outperforming High Yield: 62% of IG bonds ended higher, while 73% of HY bonds finished in the red. The U.S. Treasury curve remained largely unchanged at the short and long ends over the month, while the 5–7-year segment saw a notable compression of 25–30 basis points.

First-quarter GDP contracted by 0.3%, primarily due to a surge in imports as businesses moved to front-load ahead of escalating trade tensions. The Federal Reserve, however, is not rushing to interpret the slowdown as a sign of an imminent recession and is adopting a wait-and-see approach, seeking “greater clarity” on the Trump administration’s trade policy. Markets are currently pricing in two rate cuts this year, most likely 25 basis points each in September and December.

Disclaimer

The data, views and forecasts in this document is for information purposes only and shall not be regarded as an offer, solicitation or recommendation for an investment. Past performance is no guarantee of future results. All investments involve risks including the risk of possible loss of principal. The market value of a Fund's portfolio may decline as a result of a number of factors, including adverse economic and market conditions, prospects of securities in the portfolio, changing interest rates, and real or perceived adverse competitive industry conditions. The Fund invests in securities and other investments that may be illiquid, which hold the risk that the securities will not be able to be sold at the time desired by the Fund. The Armenian securities markets have substantially less trading volume than the securities markets of OECD countries. Additionally, the capitalization of the Armenian securities markets is highly concentrated. This combination of lower volume and greater concentration in the Armenian securities markets may create a risk of greater price volatility than in the securities markets of developed economies.

The views and forecasts contained herein are those of the GLOCAL team based on information that they believe to be reliable. These opinions may change over time.
